DRIVE THE RUSSIANS BACK SLOWLY

The Movements of the Czar's Troops Appear To Be a Mystery to the Muscovite Generals in All Points.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

London, May 27.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Central News says the fighting at Kin Chow yesterday was practically confined to a duel between the artillery of both sides. The guns were fired wholly without intermission for five hours. The fight began at dawn. Three Japanese warships in Kin Chow Bay fired their heavy guns at the Russian position and a Russian gun boat in Taitung Bay tried to draw off the fire, by attacking the left flank of the Japanese. At five thirty this morning the Japanese occupied Kin Chow castle and are now endeavoring to push the retreating Russians from the northern heights.

Have Been Sunk

New Chung, May 27.—The Russians declare a Japanese battleship was sunk by a submarine boat and that three of this class are now at Port Arthur and another is en route to Vladivostok by rail. Much contraband war arriving here.

All Surrounded.

Tokio, May 27.—Port Arthur is entirely enveloped. Admiral Togo has established a complete blockade around southern end of the Liaotung Peninsula, while the Japanese troops have swept the Russians from their defenses, west of Daini, in the rear of Port Arthur.

Clever Move.

Rome, May 27.—A dispatch from Tokio states that Generals Kuroki and Oku whose communication was reported cut by the Russians under Kuroki are now working in conjunction along the Feng Huang Ching road, making it impossible for the Russians to attack either one separately.

London, May 27.—A disastrous defeat for the Russian army near Feng wancheng, and the capture of Kin chow by the Japs, are the features of the dispatches from the seat of war. Official reports of both events are lacking.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Chronicle sends a report received from Newchwang that on May 23 thinking that the Japanese had retired from Fengwancheng, 15,000 Russians from Hailong and Liaoyang marched towards Fengwancheng. They were surprised by 20,000 Japanese in the Tatum pass. The Russian casualties were 4,500 and over a thousand Russians surrendered. The report does not state the Japanese losses.

Surprise the Russians.

COUNTRY YOUTH WORKS
GET-RICH-QUICK SCHEMEInduced Victims to Invest Funds in Imaginary Stocks, Under Promise of 50 Per Cent Profit.

Newark, N. J., May 26.—Charles L. Murphy, a country youth, was committed to jail in default of $1,000 bail on a charge of swindling. When arraigned before United States Commissioner Whitehead he admitted that he had purchased a mail order list of persons living in rural districts and that he had written to many of these persons and asked if they did not wish to purchase stock that would yield "a profit of 50 per cent."

The boy remembered selling P. J. Robb of Salem, O., the complainant against him, $75 worth of "Lunar Oil stock," also of selling $50 worth of the same stock to Capt. Cairns of Lima, O. This stock, he admitted, existed only in his imagination. He also sold Western Union Telegraph stock and "Marconi Wireless" stock, his part of the transaction ending on the receipt of the money.

Young Murphy lived with his parents in a ramshackle cottage in a farming district outside of Berkeley Heights, N. J. He received his mail at Scotch Plains under the name of James H. Murphy.

ROYAL ARCANUM'S ELECTION

Missouri Man Is the Supreme Regent for the Coming Year.

Hampton, Va., May 27.—The supreme council of the Royal Arcanum has elected the following officers: Supreme regent, A. S. Robinson, Missouri; supreme vice regent, H. C. Wiggins, New York; supreme orator, Robert Van Sandt, Illinois; supreme secretary, W. O. Robson, Massachusetts; supreme treasurer, E. A. Skinner, New York; supreme trustees, J. M. Johnson of Chicago; Charles H. Prentiss of Hartford, Conn.; and U. W. Tompkins of New York.

Newchwang gives another version of what apparently is the same battle. It states that the Chinese report that Japanese scouts discovered the enemy in strength at Tatuming, thirty-five miles northwest of Fengwancheng, on May 21. When their exact position was ascertained the Japanese sent a flying column from Shuyen, which made a strong demonstration on the enemy's front, and at daylight on May 22 engaged the Russians with artillery from the south.

Enemy's Flank Is Turned.

Meanwhile the main force, accompanied by mountain guns, advanced westward on the Fengwancheng road, turning the Russians' left flank and enfilading their trenches.

The Russians retreated hastily to Tatuming pass, losing more than 1,000 killed, wounded and captured. The Japanese losses were slight.

The division which outflanked the Russians were the troops which, according to St. Petersburg reports, retired from Fengwancheng, the retirement being a part of the Japanese tactics in Sunday's battle. The Japanese now occupy Tatuming pass.

Russians Prepare for Retreat.

The Newchwang correspondent of the Daily Mail in a dispatch dated May 23 says that coincident with the Japanese advance in the direction of Liaoyang, there has been a concentration of all the available Russian troops between Liaoyang and Maotun pass, and that the fortifications of Liaoyang are being feverishly hurried.

Will Destroy Railroad.

The railway between Tatschitai and Liaoyang is still intact, but every preparation has been made for its immediate destruction in the event of the necessity for a retreat to Mukden. The correspondent says that under cover of a continuous naval patrol secret landing operations are in progress on the west coast of the Liaoyang Peninsula.

Fighting Around Kinchow.

The reports of the capture of Kinchow an important strategic point thirty-two miles north of Port Arthur, are more circumstantial, although none of them comes from official sources.

According to the Tokyo correspondent of the Daily Chronicle the Japanese forces have been fighting around Kinchow for eight days, the Russians occupying all the commanding positions on the heights and resisting stubbornly.

REJECTS ROOSEVELT'S
OFFER OF MEDIATIONJapan and Russia Decline to Avail Themselves of Good Offices of the President.

Washington, May 27.—Though its ambassador at St. Petersburg and its minister at Tokio, the United States government has made known informally and delicately to the Russian and the Japanese governments that the President stands ready to tender his good offices to bring about peace between them at the moment when both are willing that such a step shall be taken. The attitude of the government in this respect has been discussed not only in the capitals of the belligerents, but here in Washington between Secretary Hay and the Japanese and Russian diplomatic representatives.

It has been made clear to the United States, however, that neither Russia nor Japan is willing to tolerate for an instant at this time the idea of foreign mediation. Both Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, and Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, had interviews with Secretary Hay. Afterward Count Cassini took luncheon with President Roosevelt at the white house.

New York, May 27.—John J. Mitchell, a watchman and former soldier in the Confederate army, had his son Henry arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. When the son, a tall slim man, 33 years old, was arraigned in court, his aged father stepped up on the bridge and ceremoniously saluted the court.

"What's the trouble?" asked Magistrate Mayo.

"Simply can't stand it any longer," began the old warrior. "This boy just sticks around the house and amuses himself by waking his old dad up in the middle of the night and asking me to tell him war stories."

"He never tires of hearing me tell of the strenuous times, but I'm getting along in years now. I'm not as spry as I was when I followed Longstreet—breaks me up to be roused five or six times a night to tell him war stories. An old man like me needs the sleep."

"He does like to hear war stories, and one night he woke me up three times to tell him how I shot a razor-back hog, thinking it was a Yankee spy, and how the whole brigade turned out in the dead of the night."

NEWS OF THE STATE IN BRIEF.

Sherman Primley was killed on the Milwaukee road track two miles east of Crivitz on Wednesday.

Burglars robbed the Wisconsin hotel at Madison Thursday morning, taking $200 and a quantity of goods.

The eighteenth reunion of the Nineteenth regiment, Wisconsin volunteers, will be held in Madison on June 15 and 16.

Mrs. Antola Kraupa, aged 72, died at Racine on Thursday from the effects of a fall from a chair while hanging clothes in the back yard of her home.

The board of directors of the Palmetto Old Ladies' home at Racine has awarded the contract of the erection of the building to Thomas Hay, at $10,585.

The commencement exercises of the Barron High school were held Thursday evening. A class of fourteen, five boys and nine girls, the largest in the history of the school, was graduated.

The Rev. J. H. D. Sifford, pastor of St. Albans church at New Munster, Kenosha county, will leave for Europe next Wednesday, and has been notified that he will be granted an audience with the pope.

Walter D. Corrigan, assistant attorney general, is in Green Bay arranging for the trial of the indictment cases resulting from the recent grand jury investigation, which will come up at the term of court opening June 6.

Racine is infested with a well-organized gang of burglars, whose latest crime was the robbery of the residence of William Henry Miller, whose family is at the St. Louis fair. Attempts were made to enter three other residences.

Richard Carson, a one-armed tramp who was arrested at Oshkosh last night on suspicion that he was concerned in the murder of Marshal Sherrer of Hartford Saturday night, has a perfect alibi, as he was serving a ten days' term in the Fond du Lac workhouse at the time of the murder.

MORE TALK OF
THE COAL PRICESPresident Thomas, of the Lehigh Road, Confirms Mr. Baer's Statement.

ANTHRACITE IS NOT A NECESSITY

People of St. Louis and Pittsburg Got Along Without It
Why Not Other Cities in the Country?—
Very Bombastic.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

New York, May 27.—The interstate commerce commission resumed its inquiry into the alleged coal trust compact here Thursday morning, and brought forth some interesting testimony, which, while it did not bring out the fact that the coal combine made uniform prices for coal at tide-water, yet it was admitted that there was an understanding among the members which was respected. The principal witness was President Thomas of the Lehigh Valley railroad, who gave some interesting testimony as to the advanced prices of coal, and said that the prices should go higher. If he had his way, Commissioner Prouty requested from Judge J. D. Campbell, representing the Reading, a tonnage statement distinguishing its collieries from those of the operating companies it carries.

Fixes Prices of Coal.

When President Thomas took the stand he was directed to answer several questions put to him. He said that he fixes the price of coal of the Lehigh Valley company that is sold at tide-water.

Mr. Thomas said he believed in healthy competition, which was recognized everywhere as stimulating trade. At the same time he was opposed to competition of a reckless nature, which was widely recognized as destructive.

Asked If It Was Not a Fact That, according to his answers, it was quite possible that the public had to pay what all the railroads demanded, and not what any one railroad demanded,
Mr. Thomas said:

"You don't believe that any more than I do; nobody believes that in a country of free men a necessary commodity will be kept from them by unfair prices."

Mr. Thomas said that on 3,482,000 tons of its own coal the Lehigh Valley Railroad company had a net profit of but $103,000 during its last fiscal year, and that with its present tonnage he would prefer to operate the company's coal business under the conditions existing before the strike.

Confers With Baer.

Mr. Thomas said that he conferred with President Baer of the Reading and other railroad officials before issuing the circular of prices to prevail beginning April 1, but denied that any agreement was made regarding prices.

"I made no concealment of what I was going to do," he said, "nor did they conceal anything."

"Would you raise the Lehigh Valley's prices if you thought you could get the increase?" he was asked.

"Yes, sir, I would."

"Do you think you could maintain an advanced price if your competitors did not follow suit?"

"No, sir, I do not."

In reply to questions by Commissioner Prouty, Mr. Thomas said it would be impossible arbitrarily to fix the price of coal.

"What determines the price, if the railroads do not fix it?" Commissioner Prouty asked.

"The willingness of the public to pay the price and the ability of the railroad to produce it at that price."

In reply to another question, Mr.
Thomas said:

"Anthracite coal is not a necessity. It is a luxury, like diamonds. The people of Pittsburg and St. Louis get along without anthracite. They burn bituminous coal, and are glad to get it."

Why Prices Remain High.

President Thomas said there could be no reduction from present prices because of "commercial conditions," and when Commissioner Prouty asked him to define those conditions he said that interference of politicians caused the big strike; the arbitration commission imposed obligations upon the producing interests; the mines were growing deeper and more expensive to operate and maintain; all grades of labor were at higher wages. These were but a few of the general conditions. Local conditions, he said, in the aggregate, seemed to have increased the expense of operating.

To Commissioner Clements Mr.
Thomas said there had been no change by any railroad from the circular prices because the conditions of trade had not warranted it. He said that reduction in tide-water prices would mean a reduction in miners' wages, according to the terms of the decision of the arbitration commission.JAMES BOURBON

Rising Sun, May 27.—Judge Downey concluded his charge of the jury at nine twenty-two this morning and the jury retired. In charging the jury Judge Downey said all evidence was circumstantial, and told the jury it and the right, if the evidence justified of convicting any defendants or either of them on any one of the three degrees, he dwelt at length on the degree of murder that carried the death penalty. He referred to an alibi as a legitimate and proper defense in a criminal case. There has been some talk of mob violence in case the defendants are acquitted. This is refuted by the best element.

GOLDIN GOES TO MILWAUKEE NOW

OPENS REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS AT PFISTER HOTEL.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE TO MEET

Every Preparation is Being Made for a Hot Campaign for the Republican Cause.

Republican state headquarters are to be opened in Milwaukee today by chairman Goldin of the republican state central committee. This was the decision of the meeting in Madison yesterday and chairman Goldin and M. E. Roseberry of Wausau went to Milwaukee to complete arrangements for the formal opening this morning. The regular republican headquarters in the Pfister hotel block have been made ready for them and the staff will be organized and active work begun at once.

Both Mr. Goldin and Mr. Roseberry are satisfied that the action of the convention that nominated Cook is legal and right. Mr. Roseberry said: "The importance of the great principle involved in these proceedings should not for a moment be lost sight of," said Mr. Roseberry. "If the opposition is right in what it is attempting not only does the establishment of party organization collapse, but a condition arises which places the very government itself in the hands of a usurper and dictator. At Madison last week the opposition delegates refused to take part in the caucus of congressional districts called in accordance with state law to select members of the state central committee and the committees of the convention."

A New System. "A new system of appointing these committees was later attempted to be carried out in their alleged convention which takes the power away from the delegates," in the respective districts and places it in the hands of a convention arbitrarily constituted by the state central committee. This procedure is purely revolutionary because it would enable the close corporation thus formed to control all nominations, dictate all platforms, and perpetuate itself in power indefinitely. In such a situation the functions of the political party as such would disappear and the ends of popular government would be defeated."

Not Decided. In answer to a question, Chairman Goldin said that he could not tell at this time when the court proceedings for the name of the party would be begun, but that nothing would be done until after the completion of the work of copying the records of the La Follette state central committee, now in progress at Madison.

Meeting Soon. "As soon as possible I will call a meeting of the state central committee," he said, "but I am unable to say now just when that will be. It will be in the near future, however."

Three Hundred Dancers Made Merry with Boot and Shoe Workers Last Evening.

One hundred and fifty couples attended the annual May party given by Boot and Shoe Workers' Union No. 240, at Assembly hall last evening. The hall was elaborately decorated for the occasion and unique dance programs made to resemble shoes were provided. During the course of the evening Smith & Knoff's orchestra played a special number, "The Boot & Shoe Workers' Two Step," composed by Prof. A. Knoff. Visiting guests from Evansville, Beloit, Rockford, and Edgerton were in attendance. The local union now has a membership of 110 and is in a most prosperous condition. The committees in charge last evening were: Arrangements—Morris Dalton, Ed. Falter Brown Fleck and John Horn. Floor—John Horn, Morris Dalton, John Gilmore, William Fagan, William Lynch and Ed. Falter.

ARCHITECT WANTS MONEY FOR PLANS

Mr. Kemp Has Commenced Action in Court to Recover From J. D. Bird.

In Justice Earl's court yesterday an action was started on the part of Architect Kemp, formerly of this city, to recover $75 for residence plans drawn for John D. Bird, superintendent of the Fairbanks-Morse Co. at Beloit. The defendant alleges that the plans were to call for a house not to exceed $2,000 in cost, whereas the lowest of the bid submitted was $2,625. Attorney E. H. Ryan appeared for the plaintiff and T. D. Woolsey of Beloit for the defendant. The decision will be rendered on May 31.

CONCORDIA SINGING SOCIETY REMEMBERED HIS BIRTHDAY

Called on Prof. W. T. Thiele Last Evening and Presented Him With Handsome Chair. Prof. W. T. Thiele, whose forty-first birthday anniversary occurred yesterday, was surprised at his home on Fourth avenue last evening by thirty members of the Concordia Singing Society. Refreshments were served and a delightful evening was passed. Before their departure the society presented their host with a handsome rocking chair. Prof. and Mrs. Thiele left today for Whitewater to attend the golden wedding anniversary of the former's parents.

UNIVERSITY NOW EXPECTS VICTORY

Thinks Its Track Team Can Win the Big Conference Meet in Chicago.

Madison, Wis.—President C. R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin is agrieved and humiliated and the student body feels ashamed and disgraced by reason of the blinding of the president at the convocation Wednesday noon. A change in feeling on the part of many students has occurred and instead of rebellion, the president is accorded hearty cooperation in the preparations for the semi-annual celebration of the university. The students demanded the omission of all final examinations on account of the jubilee celebration and demanded it in a violent manner, by means of flaming posters pasted on the walls and university buildings. President Van Hise called a convention to which 2,000 students responded and when he remonstrated with them for the excessive lawlessness that has prevailed this spring calls of "How about exams?" and "hisses" were returned. He declared they reminded him of sheep and they answered with "hiss-a-a." He said he sometimes doubted the wisdom of having a state university and called down his remarks. President Van Hise was visibly affected by these insults and it was with apparent difficulty that he concluded his speech. It is said that he wept bitterly after he had left the hall. Now the students are repentant and declare they will cooperate with the president to the fullest extent, whether they be compelled to take examinations or not.

The University of Wisconsin track team expects to win the annual western intercollegiate track meet in Chicago two weeks hence with a total number of points not less than 32. This number has usually been enough to win the meet in the past and Coach Kilpatrick sees where his men will assuredly capture this many on Marshall field. He expects to take four first places with Captain MacEachron in the two-mile run, Fuhrer in the high jump; L. Miller in the shot put and Post in the mile run. Captain MacEachron, has made the best time in the west in the long run this season and the same is true of Fuhrer in the high jump and Miller in the shot event. Post is running near to record time and is expected to land his race. These four firsts would give the badgers 20 points, in addition to these Miller is booked to take a place in the hammer throw, Broitkreutz is the half-mile run, Poage in the sprints or quarter-mile run, and Saridakis in the hurdles. It is the opinion of Coach Kilpatrick that the colleges outside of the "big nine" will cut into Wisconsin's score less than will be the case with the other leading teams. The Wisconsin men are showing excellent form in the daily practices.

HOW THEY MAKE DOG OWNERS PAY

Methods Used in Madison to Compel the Payment of the License.

Janesville may have a dog license law some day. In fact one is before the council now for consideration. To those who have stated it would be impossible to collect the dog license from everyone the following dispatch from Madison would be interesting reading to show how they do business in the Capital city when the tax is not paid on time.

"Treats for wholesale arrests for failure to pay dog licenses in accordance with a city ordinance have created consternation in the capital city. Some 200 or more citizens of more or less prominence are involved and several believe in the effectiveness of this system above the impending method usually adopted. The difficulty lies in the fact that numerous dogs hang about residences which the residents disown, which they refuse to pay licenses for and which the officers insist must be paid. Killing or disposing of the animals is not effective because the fee became due April 1."

CUTTING MANY OFFICIAL HEADS

RAILROADS THROUGHOUT COUNTRY INTRENCING THEMSELVES

GENERAL RAILROAD GOSSIP

What is Doing Among the Link and Line Men of the State at Present Time.

It is a fact that not since the panic period, which began in 1893, has there been such a wholesale reduction in the working forces of railroads throughout the country. Present indications are, it is said, that fully 75,000 employees, including both men and women, will be dropped from the railroad pay rolls. A large proportion of these are losing their jobs under orders from company headquarters to dismiss from the freight departments every person not absolutely needed. Train hands, station men and clerks have been receiving notices to quit since April 15th, and by June 10th it is expected that the weeding-out process will have been completed. "We have been going too fast and now the reaction is setting in," is the explanation given by a prominent railroad official. A representative of the St. Paul line. "The scarcity of money has something to do with the laying off of such a large number of employees. Instead of making loans Russia and Japan are now issuing war bonds. Speculators are getting more interest on their money by investing in these bonds than the would by investing in American securities. The presidential year, which is always hard on the railroads, is partly to blame also. State politics, too, seem to threaten the future shipping industry of the officials considerably. None of the big western railroads have made appropriations for the improvement of their roads this year. They are all short of funds."

Announcement has been made by the Manitowish, Marquette and Northern railroad company that it has effected arrangements for the operation of its car ferry between Manitowish, Mich., and Ludington, Mich., in connection with the Pere Marquette railroad. Business between all points on the Soo line and on the Pere Marquette system, as well as all points west, will be handled by this route. Arrangements also have been completed for the movement, via Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., of traffic between points on the Pere Marquette system. The car ferry, which has a capacity of thirty to forty cars, will make daily trips between Manitowish and Ludington.

Shortage of traffic and consequent necessity for reducing expenses on the Pennsylvania railroad are the reasons given for the closing to through traffic of the new Portage branch, built within two years at a cost of $5,000,000. The line was built as an alternate route between the summit of the Allegheny mountains at the east end of the Gallitzin tunnel and Pittsburg.

The Milwaukee road has announced that it will remove its division station on the Kansas City line from Chillicothe, Mo., to Laredo, Mo. The land department of the road has surveyed additions to the towns of Laredo, Mo., Jara, S. D., Monango, N. D., and Wannamingo, Minn.

All of the Wisconsin lines, the North-Western, the Milwaukee, and the Wisconsin Central roads, are now bending every energy to get the summer resort and summer vacation business. Each system has issued considerable attractive literature to interest the prospective tourist.

Nelson M. Maine of Milwaukee, has been appointed district master mechanic for the northern division of the Milwaukee road, with headquarters at Minneapolis, to succeed John Taylor, resigned. The appointment becomes effective June 1.

The Al H. Wilson company arrived in this city this morning on the 9:20 passenger train from Madison, where the troupe gave a performance last evening.

W. J. Giherson, traveling passenger agent of the Grand Trunk road transacted business in the city yesterday.

C. F. Swisher, agent at Chicago for the North Shore Dispatch, has been appointed traveling freight agent for the line into Wisconsin, to succeed Charles A. Brown.

Contracts will soon be let by the North-Western road for a $25,000 live stall addition to its roundhouse in the Third ward.

Mr. Bailey of the L. & M. road was in the city today in the interests of his road.

Engineer A. H. Shokey has been assigned runs numbers 592 and 597 between this city and Chicago and assumed charge this morning.

Engineer F. A. Shumway has been assigned to the Burlington daily freight run.

Fireman Harry E. Williams and Joseph Shekey left this morning for Lake Koshkonong on a fishing expedition.

Engineer A. R. Gridley is off duty today. Engineer G. E. Cole returned to work after a few days lay off. Fireman Dillie, was taken sick last night on run number 320, but was able to work this morning.

LATEST SPRING FOR MANY YEARS

Good Fruit Crop is Promised—The Cold Weather Delayed Growth of Early Planting.

Among the latest in the last twenty years," is the way Secretary True of the state board of agriculture announces the present spring. His last report, based on information dated at the middle of the month, was favorable to grass crops and fruit generally, but deplored the continued cold and the prevailing storms that have delayed farm work and put crops back. He sowing of small grains is hardly completed in some parts of the state, while but very little corn has been planted. Winter grains have suffered somewhat from cold, and reports estimate the prospects of winter wheat at 85 per cent, and those of winter rye at 96 per cent. Spring wheat is constantly off in acreage—a loss of 13 per cent from last year being now reported—while both barley and oats show an increase of acreage from last season; barley 2 per cent, and oats 1½ per cent. Of small grains, strawberries, wintered well, and promise a full crop, while raspberries and blackberries that were not protected are badly killed. In some localities currants and gooseberries, now in blossom, have been injured by recent frosts. Apple, cherry and plum trees will blossom heavily, indicating a favorable start for a good fruit season.

FLOOD OF MUSIC AT OLD TRINITY

Vested Choristers Filled Venerable Temple of Worship with Song Last Evening—Large Congregation.

The beautiful and impressive praise service conducted by the vested choir at Trinity Episcopal church last evening attracted a congregation that filled every pew in the temple. The hundred trained voices were admirably blended and the hymns under their rendition assumed a new significance. Rev. A. Q. Davis of Plattville preached a sermon on the place of music in worship. The prayers and other portions of the service, usually read, were chanted and the ceremonies proved unusually pleasing. Prof. A. Cumberland Wilson's organ recital which preceded the service as well as his singing in the choir were appreciated.

MORE FREEDOM FOR THE JEWS

Russian Minister Proposes to Repeal Obnoxious Border Law.

St. Petersburg, May 27.—Interior Minister Von Plehve has proposed to the council of the empire an important project for the repeal of the law under which Jews are forbidden to reside within thirty-two miles of the frontier. On account of the prevalence of smuggling some years ago the Jewish pale was drawn back from the border. The new departure is considered one of the most important steps in the execution of Emperor Nicholas' ukase, issued in the early part of 1903, promising freedom of conscience to his subjects. The emperor considered the present time auspicious for the inauguration of this reform.

CAME FROM HER ENGLISH HOME

Saw a Matrimonial Advertisement, Married Madison Man—Was Divorced and Married Again.

Brought from her home in England in answer to a matrimonial advertisement in a Madison paper, married to William Henry Hamilton Wilson, divorced on grounds of extreme cruelty from the consequence of which she was in a hospital for ten weeks, and married again to the same William story of Helen Harbisonne Wilson of Henry Hamilton Wilson—such is the Madison. The second ceremony took place in Rockford Wednesday, being performed by Rev. Frank D. Sheets. The advertisement catalogued some twenty virtues the woman for Mr. Wilson must possess, chief among them being religion and good house-keeping. Miss Harbisonne was disappointed because her lover had left England and gone to the South African war and she came to America immediately upon reading the advertisement, writing Wilson from Chicago that she had come and that she was the woman he had been looking for. They were married but within a year the divorce was granted. Two years later he has successfully pressed his suit and prevailed upon her to try the matrimonial yoke again. She has explained to the neighbors that she found single life a hard struggle and terribly lonely, therefore 'twas best to share again the home of Mr. Wilson.

VICTORY FOR Munyon's Paw Paw

A Crusade Against Disease and Intemperance

Preachers Called Upon to Assist in This Great Work of Humanity.

DYSPEPSIA RESPONSIBLE

For Nearly All Ailments and Most Failures—Makes Men Selfish, Oppressive and Unreasonable

Paw Paw Cures All Stomach Troubles

Lifts Men into the High Altitude of Hope, Health and Happiness

Prof. Munyon has started a revival for health. He has set the people thinking and is proving that good health is possible, no matter what the disease may be. He claims that nearly all ailments are caused by malnutrition or lack of nourishment. Prof. Munyon says that people die early, that the average life is shortened because the blood and the nerves are starved. "I believe," says Prof. Munyon, "that disordered stomachs are responsible for nearly all bodily ills. Where a person gets his heartily and digests his food properly the blood is vitalized and enriched, which sets the liver and kidneys and all the vital organs into active and healthful operation. Where the stomach is strong the blood is strong; where the blood is strong the nerves are strong; where the nerves are strong the liver, heart, lungs and liver are strong. In my opinion most people die from starvation; that is, they starve the blood, they starve the nerves and the general tissues of the whole body. Not that people do not fill their stomachs with nourishing food, but because what they put into the stomach does not properly digest, does not properly assimilate."

"To have good health we must put the stomach in repair. You may fill the stomach with choice beef and other life-giving foods, but if the stomach is unable to digest the same, then it does more harm than good. Keep this organ well and the rest of the body will be well; keep this organ well and there is no reason why the average life should not be more than three score years and ten; keep this organ well and there will be no need of insane asylums and little need of hospitals except for surgical work; keep this organ well and intemperance will largely disappear and the morals and mental vigor of the people will be radically improved."

"Indigestion shuts out the sunlight of hope and wraps its victim in a shroud of selfishness. Preachers should preach the doctrine of good health, for a healthy stomach means a moral community. I believe that if dyspepsia and indigestion were blotted out of existence tomorrow that prisons could be turned into workshops and saloons into libraries in five days. There is no doubt in my mind that I have been led in all ages for the purpose of leading men out of darkness into light, out of sin into righteousness. Let there be revivals now for good health. Let us resolve that we will be healthy, that we will drive from our system all vestiges of disease. Let us throw open the doors of our souls and admit the spirit of hope; let us surround ourselves with healthful influences and pure-minded friends; let us do good ourselves every thing that is harmful to our minds as well as our bodies; let us resolve to be generous, to be sympathetic, to be forgiving; let us resolve that no man shall be nobler, purer or fairer minded than ourselves; let us feel that we have a duty to perform not only for ourselves but for all mankind—namely, to possess good health. I believe that if every community will resolve to have good health that good health will be more catching than disease. There is no doubt in my mind that good cheer is contagious and I also believe that good cheer is indispensable to good health. You cannot have good cheer, however, with a dyspeptic stomach and sluggish liver."

Munyon's Paw Paw will prove to be a mighty force in the crusade for health. If you have dyspepsia, try it. If you are nervous, try it. If you are despondent, try it. If you are weak and run down, try it. Cast away all tories, all medicines and all stimulants and let Munyon's Paw Paw make you well. It will lift you into the high altitudes of hope and hold you there. It will give exhilaration without intoxication.

Munyon's Paw Paw (large bottles), price $5. Paw Paw Laxative Pills 25c, per box. At all druggists.

Coming Attractions.

Tonight at the Myers Grand we are to have Al. H. Wilson and company in Sidney R. Ellis' new and grand romantic play "A Prince of Tatters" (a tale of Old New York). Al. H. Wilson, the star of the attraction is said to have verified and even exceeded all predictions as to his success in this field, and is acknowledged as a leader in romantic German comedy. As a singer, he is counted one of the best, having a voice of much purity, power and sweetness, together with a knowledge of how to use it to the best advantage. His songs include, "The Jolly Rover," "Memory," "Schmitzbank," "Whispering Breeze," "The Winding of the Yarn" and "My Old Pipe."

"Music in a drama does not necessarily constitute melodrama," said Mr. O. H. Skinner in a recent New York magazine, "though a flimsy use of the word melodrama would result in just this inference." "Of course," he continues, "I mean melodrama as popularly known today—the 'penny dreadful,' 'villain still pursuing,' 'why sooner do this or that sort of thing infesting the cheap theatre in this present year of grace and American independence."

"In a pure sense I suppose that a drama with music is really melodrama—and I escape, but let me explain. My new play adapted from Jean Richepin's notable French success—"Le Chemineau," is a drama with music or fragment musical accompaniment but nothing could be further removed in essence and quality than "The Harvester" from what the theatre-going public immediately assumes or senses when a play is described as melodrama.

"There are no 'half-breadth' escapes—no leaping of impossible chasms—no murders, midnight robberies, nor problems of sex in the exquisite prose of life and love which M. Jean Richepin wrote and produced to the acclaim of all France at the Odeon Theatre in Paris about seven years ago. No indeed. If I was asked to define its class I should call it 'The Harvester' (presented in France as 'Le Chemineau' and in London, by Beethoven Tree, as 'Ragged Robin') a dramatic idyl or a prose pastorate—the ordinary terms of play analysis simply not fitting this original work at all.

"The accompanying music I consider very sympathetic and beautiful—and fits the cadences of this dramatic prose-poem to the very soul." Mr. Skinner and his admirable company will come to this city with "The Harvester" Saturday for one night at the Myers Theatre.

Passing of the Bostonians.

The beginning of the end of the famous original Bostonians, the greatest organization of comic opera singers that ever trod the boards in this country, occurred last night at the Grand Opera House. The engagement is for this week only, and on Saturday night the grand old troupe that has brought joy and delight to two generations of theatre-goers, will become a memory. Barnabee Karl, McDonald, Cicely, and Bartlett Davis, and the rest. They delighted our fathers, they charmed us, and it seemed as though they must go on and on in the prime of youth while we grew old. But the great paint fountain of theatrical youth has at last lost its potency, and a tablet in the Hall of Fame will next week be mounted as the most glorious, but alas, final billboard of the beloved Bostonians.

SSS THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system when in a debilitated, run-down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep.

S. S. S. improves the appetite and digestion, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating. S. S. S. is not only the best tonic, but possesses alterative or purifying properties, and if there is any taint, humor or poison in the blood, it searches it out and removes it. Many times a low state of health is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be remedied by such a remedy as S. S. S.

If you suffer from debility, weakness, insomnia, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion, or any of the miserable symptoms of a disordered blood, nothing will so soon put your blood in good condition, invigorate and tone up the system and restore the health as S. S. S.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, May 27, 1861.—The Party Tonight.—The promise is that the party tonight at the Hyatt house hall, will not only be a large one, but a fine affair in all its details.

From the 13th.—A letter to a gentleman in this city from a member of the 13th regiment, says that it has been ordered to the front under Hooker. When the letter was written they were at Stevenson.

Works Charming.—The plan of closing the stores at eight o'clock seems to work admirably. The purchasing community comprehending the desirableness of the movement, are evidently disposed to acquiesce cheerfully in the argument. It is sensible and better for all parties.

Concert of the Hoffman's.—These artists are great favorites with our citizens, as they seem to be almost everywhere. Their success at St. Paul and other towns in the Northwest which they have recently visited have been of the most flattering description, and we have no doubt that they will be greeted tonight with a full house.

Circuit Court.—The business of the present term was pretty much finished up today. Five persons indicted by the grand jury came into court and pleaded guilty. The court adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, and the persons who pleaded guilty will receive their sentence at 10.

The legislature of Massachusetts after a session of four months and one week adjourned on Saturday last. The members voted themselves $100 extra pay for the session which the Governor vetoed; whereupon the members passed it over the veto and pocketed the money.

Boston merchants are petitioning Congress to pass a law regarding National banks to hold a reasonable portion of their gold and silver in reserve, and that this reserve shall continue to be held until the resumption of special payment by the Government banks of the United States.

Personal.—Governor Lewis, our present popular and efficient chief Magistrate arrived in this city on the afternoon train. He remained here only a short time.

VALUATION TO BE LESSENED

IF COUNTY BOARD COMMITTEE SUCCEEDS IN MISSION.

ROCK COUNTY'S ASSESSMENT

Regarded as Out of Proportion to Those of Other Counties—Delegation Will Go to Madison.

Every member of the county board of supervisors was in his seat when roll was called this morning. After Chairman F. F. Livermore has announced the personnel of the new committee the board turned its attention to routine business. A committee consisting of J. A. Paul, E. D. McGowan, and S. S. Jones, was appointed to investigate the need of shelving and filling cases in the register of deeds office. A. C. Powers and W. F. Carle were appointed as a committee of two to confer with the state board of assessments with regard to lessening the assessed valuation of Rock county as fixed by the board in 1903 and if possible have it lowered to correspond with other counties of its class. This committee will go to Madison and will report the results of its work at the November meeting. Appropriations of $200 each were made for stationary for the school superintendents of the two districts. Following is the make-up of the standing committees for 1904:

1. Tax Certificates and Illegal Taxes—L. W. Cheever, J. W. Quimby, W. F. Carle.
2. District Attorney's Report—J. D. Goffrey, D. C. Hansen, W. T. Sherman.
3. Charters and Incorporations—H. D. Treadway, E. N. Hansen, C. F. Miller.
4. Finance—Fred P. Grove, J. E. Egan, W. E. Shoemaker.
5. Change of Names of Towns and Villages—F. P. Smiley, F. Rehfeld, J. Tuller.
6. Vacating Towns and Villages—J. Campton, H. Ebbott, F. Hubbard.
7. Public Buildings—Simon Smith, L. Rathburn, J. D. Goffrey.
8. License Committee—W. H. Andrews, H. L. Skaylen, J. Humly.
9. Accounts of Receiving and Disbursing Officers—L. E. Gettle, P. C. McEvoy, E. C. Hopkins.
10. General Claims and Examinations of Invoices—A. C. Powers, H. D. Treadway, F. P. Smiley.
11. Equalization—Chairman, W. Zull, 1st Dist., L. E. Gettle, J. A. Paul, W. W. Gilles, 2nd Dist., W. F. Carle, E. H. Ransom, 3rd Dist., S. S. Jones, G. H. Crosby, J. O. Thompson.
12. E. H. Ransom, J. A. Paul, J. O. Arthur.
13. Claims of Sheriffs, Constables, Change of Venue and Post Mortem Examinations—S. S. Jones, W. B. Andrews, W. W. Gilles.
14. Reports of Trustees and Superintendents of Insane Asylum, Superintendents of the Poor and Special Relief of Poor—J. C. McEvoy, W. Zull, G. H. Crosby.
15. Purchasing Agents, Consisting of Two Members of the Board and County Clerk—H. Ebbott, R. W. Cheever.
16. Consisting of Two Members to Act with the Chairman of the County Board for the Purpose of Approving the Bonds of all Newly elected or Appointed County Officers—E. D. McGowan, J. Campton.

HELP BUSINESS BY GOOD ROADS

THE OPINION OF A PROMINENT JANESVILLE MAN.

WOULD MEAN MUCH TO CITY

By an Increase in Trade, and Also Be of Benefit to the Whole Community.

"If we should establish a monthly market in Janesville we should also look after our country roads leading into the city and keep them in good shape." This was the opinion of a prominent business man last evening on being asked what he thought of the establishing of a monthly market. "Good roads will bring trade just as quickly as a monthly market and while I favor a market of this kind still the essential feature of the whole business is to see that the roads are so good that farmers will bring their loads to Janesville to sell because it is an easy haul.

How They Do It.
"In connection with this I might quote the results obtained in Delavan by good roads. This town has one of the best plants for building and maintaining good roads in the near Chicago country. Near the city a rich deposit of gravel and this has been bought by the town authorities. They also purchased a powerful crusher and traction engine and set up the machinery handy to the gravel bed. The larger stones are crushed to a uniform size, and the material is hauled out on the roads in and leading to the town until a fine and serviceable system has been built. The stone is rolled by a heavy steam roller until it is hard and smooth. These improvements, maintained by the city and township, have been the means of bringing increased trade to the town.

In Michigan, in a great rivalry among the towns to draw the country trade, Over is in Berrien County, Michigan, the floods washed out a bridge over the St. Joseph river, preventing farmers from reaching Berrien Springs. The merchants were quick to see that the farmers must have a way of getting into the town and at once started a free ferry, driving out one that had been established on a toll basis. Good roads have been built in great measure by the town trades people, who see the advantage of a first-class system by which farmers may drive in and out at all seasons of the year.

Make the Roads.
"Make the roads good in all kinds of weather and when told the farmer about them so that he will know that the Janesville tramplike is good rain or shine, spring or winter and you will see the trade swarming into the city. Milton and Milton Junction have good roads about their villages because they attend to them and while too Janesville roads are not bad they could be improved."

WEIGH QUESTION OF VOTING MACHINE

Council Will Again Take Up the Matter Before July Levy Is Made.

It is probable that the subject of voting machines will be up before the council again during the coming month. Several of the aldermen regarded the project of establishing them in the city with favor at the time the matter was discussed before but no action could be taken because an appropriation for such a purpose would have to be included in the July levy. The Standard Voting Machine Co. of Rochester, N. Y., is likely to find a competitor in the field when it again sends its representative here as a new concern in Indianapolis is already trying to make a rifle in this field. It was estimated, when the matter was considered before, that five machines at $500 each would take care of Janesville and would pay for themselves in seven years in the saving made on ballot clerks, salaries, printing, etc. In addition to this it is claimed to be the twentieth century method of registering one's sentiments on all things elective. The machines are said to be adapted to all possible emergencies, even to that of women voting along certain restricted lines. A little knob pressed by the operator is all that is necessary to narrow down the ballot to the school board.

BREWERS WAGE A SILENT WAR

MILWAUKEE CONCERNS QUIETLY STRENGTHENING FOOTHOLD.

THEY OFFER A HIGHER RENTAL

For the Best Stands Than Home Producers Can Afford to Pay—Locals Crowded Out in Six Instances.

Just beneath the placid surface of things a war to the knife is in progress between the local breweries and the big concerns in Milwaukee. Step by step the invaders are strengthening their hold on the city and thus far in the game the home producers have had decidedly the worst of it.

Strategy of "Empty."
Like Cossacks creeping into Manchuria, enlarging their territory step by step—showing no haste, retreating when advisable rather than provoke any open hostilities, but regaining at the next move all they have lost and more—the Milwaukee malsters are pushing their campaign in Janesville. Whenever the lease of a well-located stand expires they are on the ground to offer more for rental than the local concern can afford to pay. Only recently one of them secured one of the best in the city by offering $17 more a month than the former tenant had paid.

Lost Six Places.
Due partially to this cause, one of the local breweries has lost six stands within a year's time. Modern methods demand that the breweries shall own the fixtures and secure the licenses, hiring men to run the places that are to serve as outlets for their products. That is to say, the big breweries have started this and the little ones must fall in line if they would survive. Down in Rockford a short time ago one of the Milwaukee concerns promised to even build a brewery to compete with the local institutions in order that they might interest citizens and drive in a wedge that would open the city to their beverages.

RELATIVES RECEIVE NEWS OF THE DEATH OF MRS. HUBBELL

Sad tidings reached Mrs. E. P. Wilson this morning of the death in Los Angeles of Mrs. Edwin Hubbell, of the town of Janesville. Mrs. Hubbell, accompanied by her husband and daughter, went west last fall in the hope of regaining her health. Her condition became very critical of late and she had not long to live. Mrs. Hubbell was a daughter of Captain Isaac Miles, formerly of Fulton, now living in Indiana. The remains are on the way here and the funeral will probably be held the first of next week.

WERE HAPPILY WED LAST EVENING

Mr. Paul Bahr and Miss Ida Vogel Married by Rev. Paul Werth Last Night.

Last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vogel, Armour street, Rev. Paul Werth of St. John's German Lutheran church, performed the marriage ceremony that united Mr. Paul Bahr and Ida Vogel, as man and wife. The young couple were attended by Miss Louise Vogel, sister of the bride, who acted as bride's maid and Mr. Albert Bahr, brother of the groom acted as best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests were served with a wedding supper after which dancing was indulged in until an early hour this morning. The married couple have a host of friends who will wish them many happy years of married life.

EIGHT SLICES FOR DINNER

Four cuts across the loaf and each one divided in half, making eight pieces in all, is the record at dinner today for one 140 pound man. He had a good dinner too, of other things. Every one eats so much of this bread just as they ate bread and butter when they were children. Don't give up and think you have lost your appetite when it is poor, tasteless bread that you don't like and can't eat. Just for fun we are selling our bread at 1c a loaf.

Fried Cakes. If we can get enough of them ready tonight we want you to have a half dozen for your Sunday morning breakfast. They are only 10c dozen.

The college baseball team played the best game of the season thus far last Wednesday when they defeated the strong Sacred Heart College team of Watertown by a score of 4 to 3. It was fast and interesting throughout and was no one's game until the last man was out. Sacred Hearts played a good game in the field but could not land on Place often enough to make the necessary tallies. Milton scored two runs in the 3rd and two in the 4th while their opponents scored three in the 6th and two in the 7th. The game was let in by a wild throw from 1st base. Milton took the field first so did not use the last inning at bat.

Place for Milton, pitched an excellent game, showing good control of the ball and keeping his nerve in tight places. He was given good support all around, better than has been given in any previous game. Ingils in left field, did some phenomenal work in fielding and throwing. Robinson was in his usual good form behind the bat.

The batteries were: for Sacred Hearts, Meneau and Oakes, for Milton, Place and Robinson.

The Foxy Eel

"Good gracious!" cried Conger Eel, slipping quickly to one side as a most wonderful creature came sliding toward him. "What in the name of Neptune is this?"

"Foxy!" yelled the creature, dashing past him.

"What for?" gasped Conger, wiggling his whiskers.

"Ho, ho!" laughed the other. "Don't know me, do you? Oh, I'm 'bogs' at the court."

"Should say you were a bogy. What do you want to scare a fellow like that for, and what have you been doing?"

"Oh, I'm just practicing for the summer. You see, there is a golf course on the edge of this pond, and I have learned the game from hearing it so often, and, you see, it's so much cooler down here to play than in that hot field, and then they knock so many balls in the pond that I am well supplied. Now, if you will just be caddy I'll go on with the game."

"What is the game?"

"Oh, just put the ball on a lily pad and pound it with this club and yell 'Fore!' and if you find it before next week you win the game."

"Oh, I see," said the eel. "And if you don't find it the other fellow wins. I'll caddy for you. All ready."

"Mr. Perch put the ball on a lily pad and gave it a good rap. Mr. Eel opened his mouth wide and caught the ball. 'Can you find it?' said he.

"Mr. Perch looked in vain. 'I can't seem to locate it,' he said hopelessly.

"Don't see it myself," said the eel, with a smile.

"I guess it went out of bounds," suggested the perch.

"I think it's inside, though," smiled the eel. "Do you give it up?"

"I do," said Mr. Perch sadly.

"So do I," said the eel, coughing it out of his mouth, "and I guess I win. Moral.—You can be cheated at any game, even golf.—Detroit Journal.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

A Blood Relation

Johnnie was awakened by a strange humming, buzzing sound close to his head, and when he got out the sand that the "wandman" had put in his eyes he stared about him. There on the bottom of the bed was a fearful hogoblin, so Johnnie thought, with big round eyes, awfully long legs and wings and a beak that looked like a trooper's sword.

"Are you one of those angels that my mamma said took care of little boys at night?" said Johnnie, trembling.

"Cause, if you are, I guess I kin git along by myself all right. You needn't stay."

But the mosquito made a jab with his beak at the bedclothes over Johnnie's shins and said loudly: "Cousin-n-n-n. Cousin-n-n-n."

"Oh, you're a cousin, are you? I wonder which one."

"Z-z-z-m-m-m," answered the mosquito, buzzing about Johnnie's head.

"Zim? Oh, I guess you must be that soldier cousin of mother's, by the looks of that sword you carry. His name was Jim."

"Cousin-n-n-n" buzzed the mosquito sharply. "Don't you know your own relations?"

"You my relation?" asked Johnnie in amazement. "How do you make that out?"

"Oh, easy. Relations are those who have the same blood in them, ain't they?"

"Yep," assented Johnnie.

"Well, you and I have the same blood. You had it, and now I've got it. I just tapped you, you know."

Johnnie just scratched and wondered.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Elmo Chemical Company, Des Moines, Iowa.

I wish to say to you that I have the greatest remedy for heart trouble in the world. I have been afflicted with a serious difficulty with my heart for several years. The doctors called it Valvular disease. I had an irregular pulse all the time. About every five beats it would skip a beat and two or three times a day my heart would beat very fast up to 120 beats a minute, then it would slow up and almost quit beating and during those spells I would almost die. When I sent for your free sample of Cactarine it was like a drowning man catching at a straw, and I had no hope, but after taking all you sent I felt a little encouraged and decided to send for three boxes.

Today I have only ten tablets left in the third box, but I have not felt a particle of trouble with my heart for two weeks.

My pulse is regular, no more swooning, and I feel perfectly well, but I wish to keep your remedy on hand. It saved my life.

Yours very truly,

WILLIAM ALBERT SMITH.

She has a pretty way of saying "How do you do?" and a pretty way of giving you a rebuke—such a pretty way of giving you a rebuke that the rebuke itself seems pretty.

Indeed, she has an adorably pretty way of doing a quantity of things that one would never call pretty did she not do them in such a pretty way that in the doing they become pretty.

Crossing the room, as she prettily crosses it, is a wedding procession.—"Fadette" in Chicago Tribune.

Fourth.—That immediately after this she had passed to the drawer where Mr. Jeffrey's pistol was kept.

Fifth.—That while this pistol had not been observed in her hand, there was as yet no evidence to prove that it had been previously taken from the drawer, save such as was afforded by her own acknowledgment that she had tied some unknown object, presumably the pistol, to her sister's wrist before that sister left the house.

Sixth.—That if this was so, the pistol and the ribbon connecting it with Mrs. Jeffrey's wrist had been handled again before the former was discharged, and by fingers which had first touched dust, of which there was plenty in the old library.

Seventh.—That Miss Tuttle had admitted, though not till after much prevarication and apparent subterfuge, that she had extended her walk on that fatal night not only as far as the Moore house, but that she had entered it and penetrated as far as the library door at the very moment the shot was fired within.

Eighth.—That in acknowledging this she had emphatically denied having associated the firing of this shot with any idea of harm to her sister; yet was known to have gone from this house in a condition of mind so serious that she failed to recollect the places she visited or the streets she passed through till she found herself again in her sister's house face to face with an officer.

Nine.—That her first greeting of this officer was a shriek, betraying a knowledge of his errand before he had given utterance to a word.

Ten.—That the candles found in the Moore house were similar to those bought by Mr. Jeffrey and afterward delivered at his kitchen door.

Eleven.—That she was the only member of the household besides the cook who was in the kitchen at the time, and that it was immediately after her departure from the room that the package containing the candles had been missed.

Twelve.—That opportunities of coming to an understanding with Mr. Jeffrey after his wife's death had not been lacking, and it was not until after such opportunities had occurred that any serious inquiry into this matter had been begun by the police. To which must be added, not in way of proof, but as an important factor in the case, that her manner, never open, was such throughout her whole public examination as to make it evident to all that only half of what had occurred in the Jeffreys' house since the wedding had been given out by her or by the man for whose release from a disappointing matrimonial entanglement she was supposed to have worked, and this though the suspicion hanging over them both called for the utmost candor.

Verily a serious list, and opposed to this I had as yet little to offer but my own belief in her innocence and the fact, but little dwelt on and yet not without its value, that the money which had come to Mr. Jeffrey and the home which had been given her had both been forfeited by Mrs. Jeffrey's death.

As I mused and mused over this hasty synopsis in my vain attempt to reach some fresh clue to a proper understanding of the inconsistencies in Mrs. Tuttle's conduct by means of my theory of her strong but mistaken devotion to Mr. Jeffrey, a light suddenly broke upon me from an entirely unexpected quarter. It was a faint one, but my glimmer was welcome. Remembering a remark made by Mr. Jeffrey in his examination that Mrs. Jeffrey had not been the same since crossing the fatal doorstep of the Moore house, I asked myself, if we had paid enough attention to the mental condition and conduct of the bride prior to the alarm which threw a pall of horror over her marriage, and caught by the idea, I sought for a fuller account of the events of that day than had hitherto been supplied by newspaper or witness.

Hunting up my friend the reporter, I begged him to tell me where he had obtained the facts from which he made that leading article in the Star which had so startled all Washington on the evening of the Jeffrey wedding. That they had come from some eyewitness I had no doubt, but who was the eyewitness? Himself? No. Who then? At first he declined to tell me, but after a fuller understanding of my motives he mentioned the name of a young lady who, while a frequent guest at the most fashionable functions, was not above supplying the papers with such little items of current gossip as came under her own observation.

How I managed to approach this lady and by what means I succeeded in gaining her confidence are details quite unnecessary to this narrative. Enough that I did obtain access to her and that she talked quite frankly to me and in no doing supplied me with a clue which ultimately opened up to me an entirely new field of inquiry.

We had been discussing Mr. Jeffrey and Miss Tuttle when suddenly and with no apparent motive beyond the natural love of gossip, which was her weakness, she launched out into remarks about the bride. The ceremony had been late. Did I know it? A half hour or three-quarters past the time set for it. And why? Because Miss Moore was not ready. She had chosen to array herself in the house and had come early enough for the purpose, but she would not accept any assistance, not even that of her maid, and of course she kept every one waiting. "Oh, there was no more uneasy soul in the whole party that morning than the bride!" Let other people remark upon the high look in Corn Tuttle's face or gossip about the anxious manner of the bridegroom, she (the speaker) could tell things about the bride which would go to show that she was not at all right even before that ominous death's head reared itself into view at her marriage festival. Why, the fact that she came downstairs and was married without her bridal bouquet was enough. Had there not been so much else to talk about, people would have talked about that. But the big event had so effectively swallowed up the little that only herself and possibly two other ladies she might name seemed to retain any memory of the matter.

"What ladies?" I asked.

"Oh, it doesn't matter what ladies. Two of the very best sort. I know they noticed it, because I heard them talking about it. We were all standing in the upper hall and were all crowded into a passage leading to the room where the bride was dressing. It was before the alarm had gone around of what had been discovered in the library, and we were all impatient enough for the appearance of the bride, who, we had been told, intended to wear the old point in which her great-grandmother was married. I have a weakness for old point and I was determined to stand where I could see her come out, even if I lost sight of the ceremony itself. But it would have been tedious enough waiting in that close hall if the ladies behind me had not kept up a conversation, which I, of course, pretended not to hear. I remember it, every word, for it was my sole amusement for half an hour. What was it? Oh, it was about that same bouquet, which, by the way, I had the privilege of staring at all the time they chatted. For the boy who brought it had not been admitted into Miss Moore's room, and not knowing what else to do with it was lingering before her door, with the great streamers falling from his hands, and the lilies making the whole place heavy with a sickening perfume. From what I heard the ladies say, he had been standing there an hour, and the timid knock he gave from time to time produced in me an odd feeling which those ladies behind me seemed to share. 'It's a shame!' I heard one of them cry. 'Veronica Moore has no excuse for such thoughtlessness. It is an hour now that she has been shut up in her room alone. She won't have even her maid in. She prefers to dress alone, she says. Peculiar in a bride, isn't it? But one thing is certain—she cannot put on her veil without help. She will have to call some one in for that.' At which the other volunteered that the Moores were all queer, and that she didn't envy Francis Jeffrey. 'What! not with fifty thousand a year to lighten her oddities?' returned her companion with a shrug which communicated itself to me, so closely were we packed together. 'I have a son who could bear with them under such circumstances.' Indeed she has, and all Washington knows it, but the remark passed without comment, for they had not yet exhausted the main event, and the person they now attacked was Miss Tuttle. 'Why doesn't she come and see that that bouquet is taken in?' I declare it's not decent. Mr. Jeffrey would not feel complimented if he knew the fate of those magnificent lilies and roses. I presume he furnished the bouquet.'

"Miss Tuttle has looked out of her room once," I heard the other reply. "She is in splendid beauty today, but pale. But she never could control Veronica." "Hush! You speak louder than you think!" This amused me, and I do believe that in another moment I should have laughed outright if another boy had not appeared in the hall before us, who, shoving aside the first, rapped on the door with a spirit which called for answer. But he was no more successful than the other boy had been. So, being a brisk fellow, with no time for nonsense, he called out: "Your bouquet, miss, and a message which I am to give you before you go downstairs! The gentleman is quite particular about it!" These words were literally shouted at the door, but in the hubbub of voices about us I don't believe any one heard them but ourselves and the bride. I know that she heard them, for she opened the door a very little way—such a very little way that the boy had to put his lips to the crack when he spoke and then turn and place his ear where his lips had been in order to catch her reply. This, for some reason, seemed a long time in coming, and the fellow grew so impatient that he amused himself by snatching the bouquet from the other boy and thrusting it in through the crack, to the very great detriment of its roses and lilies. When she took it he bowed for his answer, and when he got it he stared and muttered doubtfully to himself as he worked his way out again through the crowd, which by this time was beginning to choke up all the halls and stairways.

"But why have I told you all this nonsense?" she asked quite suddenly. "It isn't of the least consequence that Veronica Moore kept a boy waiting at her door while she dressed herself for her wedding, but it shows that she was queer even then, and I for one believe in the theory of suicide, and in that alone, and in the excuse she gave for it, too, for if she had really loved Francis Jeffrey she would not have been so slow to take in the magnificent bouquet he had provided for her."

But comment even from those who had known these people well was not what I wanted at this moment, but facts, so, without much attention to these words, I said:

"You will excuse me if I suggest that you are going on too fast. The door of the bride's room has just been shut upon the boy who brought her a message. When was it opened again?"

"Not for a good half hour; not till every one had grown nervous and Miss Tuttle and one or two of her most intimate friends had gone more than once to her door, not, in fact, till the hour for the ceremony had come and gone and Mr. Jeffrey had crossed the hall twice under the impression that she was ready for him. Then, when weakness was general and people were asking what kept the bride and how much longer they were to be kept waiting, her door suddenly opened and I caught a glimpse of her face and heard her ask at last for her maid. Oh, I repeat that Veronica Moore was not at all right that day, and though I have heard no one comment on the fact, it has been a mystery to me ever since why she gave that sudden recoil when Francis Jeffrey took her hand after the benediction. It was not timidity, nor was it fear, for she did not know till a minute afterward what had happened in the house. Did some sudden realization of what she had done in marrying a man whom she herself declared she did not love come when it was too late? What do you think?"

Miss Freeman had forgotten herself; but the impetuosity which had led her into asking my opinion made her forget in another moment that she had done so. And when in my turn I pronounced a question and inquired whether she ever again saw the boy who had been the bride's door with a message, she graciously replied:

"The boy; let me see. Yes, I saw him twice—once in a back hall looking earnestly to Mr. Jeffrey, and secondly at the carriage door just before the bridal party rode away. It was Mrs. Jeffrey who was talking to him then, and I wondered to see him look so pleased when everybody in and about the house was pale as ashes."

Miss Freeman

"Do you know the name of that boy?" I carelessly inquired.

"His name? Oh, no. He is one of Raucher's waiters—the curly haired one. You see him everywhere, but I don't know his name. Do you flatter yourself that he can tell you anything that other people don't know? Why, if he knew the least thing that wasn't in everybody's mouth you would have heard from him long ago. 'Those men are the greatest gossips in town'—I wonder what she thought of herself?" This was true enough, though I did not admit it at the time, and when the interview was closed and I went away I have no doubt she considered me quite the most heavy person she had ever met. But this did not disturb me. The little facts she had stated were new to me, and, repeating my former method, I was already busy arranging them in my mind. Witness the result:

SLOT MACHINES SELL STAMPS

British Government Considering New Device for Public Convenience.

London, May 27.—The English postmaster general is considering a penny-in-the-slot machine by which the purchaser will be enabled to obtain stamps at all hours—a useful matter when the postoffices are closed. The machine is so constructed that it can be fitted into a wall or pillar box, for it is of small compass. The purchaser, after placing the penny in the slot, presses a knob, and the machine does the rest. The stamps are placed on a roller, and only one stamp is released at a time, while an indicator shows the number of stamps remaining in the machine. This is an advantage, and will prevent the loss of sundry pennies and the use of "language."

Kentucky Veterans Urge Monument to Confederate Leader. Frankfort, Ky., May 27.—The Grand Army of the Republic, in reunion here, is to adopt a resolution calling on congress to erect at Washington a monument to the memory of Gen. Robert E. Lee. The resolution urges that such a memorial will give to the people of the South a new and stronger pledge of brotherhood.

Merry Del Val's Successor. Rome, May 27.—The Pope has decided should events necessitate the resignation of Cardinal Merry Del Val as papal secretary of state, that his successor will be Cardinal Vincenzo Vannelli, who will continue the same policy.

Mammoth Steamer on Trial. New York, May 27.—Every craft in New York harbor tooted a welcome to the C. W. Moore, the new steel steamer of the People's Line, as she sailed on her trial trip. The steamer is nearly as long as two city blocks.

Tennessee Pearl Fishery. Within the past five years a pearl-fishing industry has grown up in the United States, but it has none of the tragedy or romance of the Ceylon and Panama fisheries. It centers principally around the Clinch river in Tennessee, and there are smaller fisheries in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS.Moth Proof Bags
